

TEEN ANGST

by Dennis William Hauck
(www.DWHauck.com)

Foolery! Foolery!
Brain-belted imagery,
Sickness but no germ.
The heart beats --
A waste of time!

And swift dull blade,
A moment's thought,
Cuts like razor,
And draws a bloody tear.

Pumped glans wetting
At a loss,
Bubblant smugness
And charactered being --

Some dying weed
In a jubilant garden
Sighs a pendant notion.

Indiana, 1961. Published in World of Poetry (1990), Awake to a Dream (1991), and In the Company of Poets (Sept/Oct 1991).